Sanchez Congratulates Military Academy Appointees

Four Students from the 47th Congressional District Receive Admission to U.S. Military Service Academies

GARDEN GROVE, Calif.; – Representative Loretta Sanchez hosted a reception in honor of this year’s military academy appointees and their families to celebrate their admission to U.S. military academies. This year, four students from the 47th Congressional District were admitted to the U.S. Airforce Academy, Navy Academy and West Point Military Academy. Thuy Mi Dinh, senior at John F. Kennedy High School and Michael So from Troy High School were admitted to the U.S. Naval Academy. Cynthia Lete from Saddleback High School was admitted to the Air Force Academy and Loara High School senior Bryan Lee was granted admission to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

“I want to congratulate this year’s appointees for their hard work,” said Sanchez. “Admission to military academy is not easy, it’s very competitive. Students must have an outstanding academic background, high test scores and a strong commitment to serve their country.

“I encourage more young people from our district to seek admission to a military academy. Many of our government and business leaders are graduates of U.S. military academies. Our office is here to help students with the process. My staff offers assistance with the nomination and application process to make sure students have all their materials turned in.”

As the Representative of the 47th Congressional District of California, Congresswoman Sanchez can to nominate students living in her district who seek admission to U.S. military academies. Candidates must be academically, physically and medically qualified for admission.
